

User Manual Guide

Thank you for trusting us and using this software. This software is for a wine store in which you can use for the daily transaction. You can add the information of the wine and search the wine according to the brand and by price. The data of the wine information that are stored can be opened and the information will be loaded in the table.

Security Feature

There is a threat that other can access the information. There is a security feature of logging system. Only you can use the software. You are given username and password. After that you can login to the application with the username and password which was given to you. After logging in Main UI is loaded this consists all the features of the application.

Add Function

Adding is one of the functions of this application. This function is for adding the information in the table for many purposes. User can use this feature for adding the information of the wine in the table. To use this feature you must click the add button. After clicking, a new frame will be opened in which u can add the information.

Update Function

Update is another function of this application. With time many things change such as price or while adding the data there may be mistake. From this function you can edit the data in the table. To use this feature you must select the row in the table which you want to edit. After selecting, click the update button and a new frame will be opened for updating the information.

Delete Function

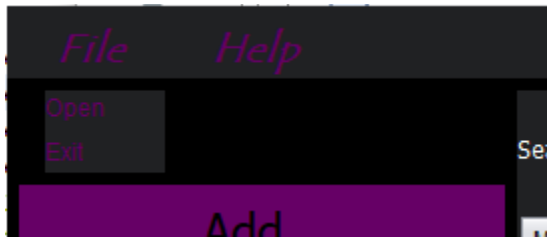

Some information can be unwanted in the future. For this there is delete function. You can delete the data in the table. For deleting, you must click the row which you want to remove from the table and click the delete button.

Search Function

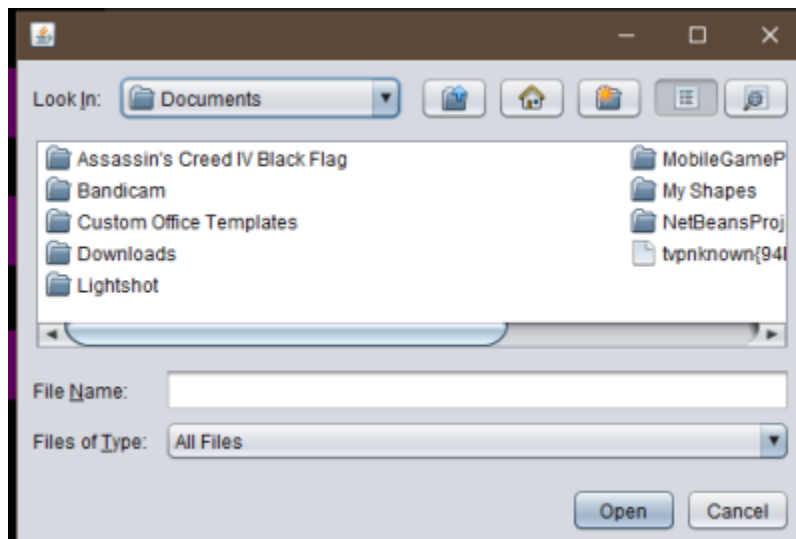

This is one of the functions of this application. This function is for searching the information that is stored in table. You can use this function to search the information of the wine which is stored in the table. You can search the products by price and by brand. While searching from brand, u can select the brand in the combo box.

Opening a file

There can be files that contain information. From this function u can open a file. You can open a file that contains the information about the wine products. Hover the mouse over the file and click the open.

After clicking open you can choose the file you want.

After the entire task has been completed you can logout for security purpose.